Chapter 15 – Curricular and Professional Implications
By Frederick Burrack and Kelly Parkes

ABSTRACT
The purpose of this chapter is to provide music teachers, and students studying to become teachers, a programmatic view of the Model Cornerstone Assessments with implications for curricular decisions and future research. This chapter illustrates the fitting of the MCAs into curriculum, student ownership of learning, how the MCAs enhance experiences in school music, and it explores future research opportunities.