2020-2021 Issue Deadlines
Please understand that delayed submissions will delay issues. 3 weeks are required for issue production after all individual items are completed.

Feb. 5, 2020 for JMTE 29:3 (Jun.2020)
Feb. 4, 2021 for JMTE 30:3 (Jun.2021)

Volume page budget: 315 pages
Average pages per issue: 105 pages

To track page usage and view detailed information for both in-process and completed articles, log in to SMART and go to Reports > Article List.

To estimate journal pages prior to production, divide the manuscript's word count by 460, then add a half-page for every figure/table.

Production Tips
Our submission deadlines are set as late as possible for your convenience, but this also reduces the available wiggle room for delayed submissions or delayed proof corrections. Please try to meet the deadlines for all content, including editorials, reviewer lists, and TOCs.

When exporting articles or returning proof corrections, please send each one as it becomes ready, rather than waiting to send multiple, so that we can process your items more quickly.

Use the “Comments to Production” box within SAGE Track to send notes about publication timing or other info to SMART (this only works prior to export).

SAGE Track information only flows to SMART when exported…any post-export changes to files, comments, or author information will not be transferred to SMART.

Production editors receive many emails, so it’s hugely helpful if you can preserve existing subject lines (so that messages remain grouped within the thread) and/or reference the article ID within emails (for searchability).

If you will be traveling or otherwise unavailable for journal work/questions, please let your PE know in advance whenever possible.
