

Rhonda Rhodes
Leadership Statement

A leader should listen. A leader should be able to facilitate and then summarize discussion. A leader should seek input from many stakeholders. A leader understands there is strength in diversity and does not shut out voices they don't agree with. A leader is a face of an organization or cause and should conduct themselves as such.