

The Handbook of the Society for Research in Music Education

Founded in 1960, the Society for Research in Music Education (SRME) is formally authorized to function in Bylaw VII of the National Association for Music Education (NAfME). The Society is composed of members of NAfME who share interest in the processes, products, and applications of research in music education. The SRME facilitates collective actions and communication among persons interested in research in music education and forms a broad base of support for research within NAfME.

The SRME

A member of the Society is a NAfME member in any category of membership who chooses “SRME” at time of NAfME membership registration or renewal.

Purpose of the Society

The purpose of the Society is to promote high quality research in music education and related fields.

In fulfilling this purpose, the Society:

1. promotes the use of research to improve music education.
2. functions as a source of information, coordination, and communication in all matters affecting research in music education nationally and internationally.
3. organizes and administers a suitable variety of sessions devoted to original research and relevant research topics at national conferences of NAfME.
4. advises the President, the National Executive Board, or any other committee or unit of NAfME in matters relating to research in music education.
5. oversees and advises NAfME on research-related publications and projects.
6. sponsors publication of the Journal of Research in Music Education and Update: Applications of Research in Music Education and oversees the general direction of these journals in cooperation with the Editorial Committees and Editors.

The SRME Executive Committee

The governing body of the Society is the SRME Executive Committee (EC). The EC facilitates the purpose of the Society by providing leadership, guidance, and means for communication. Specifically, the EC collaborates with and advises the leadership of the umbrella organization, NAfME, on research-related matters pertinent to NAfME’s purposes, detailed in Article II, a-f, of its Constitution. The EC oversees the research sessions and structures of selected NAfME conferences, two research journals (the Journal of Research in Music Education and Update: Applications of Research in Music Education), the Special Research Interest Groups (SRIGs), the NAfME-SRME Research Grants, and the Senior Researcher Award. The EC monitors and supports the work of the State Research Chairs and the research activities of the affiliated State music education associations.

1. serves as the governing body of the Society.
2. coordinates the work of the Division and State Research Chairs.
3. oversees the work of the Special Research Interest Groups, such oversight to include authorizing the creation of new Groups, reviewing the viability of existing ones, assuring continuity in the governance of the Groups, requiring the Groups to pursue viable missions that do not conflict with other Groups, and decertifying or dissolving Groups that have become inactive or that fail to contribute to the good of the Society in the judgment of the SRME Executive Committee.
4. cooperates, individually or collectively, with agencies or organizations undertaking research projects in music education, although it shall not be the duty of the SRME Executive Committee to carry out specific research projects.
5. works with NAFME to develop and maintain a presence on the NAFME website for all matters related to SRME and to music education research.
6. cooperates with the curator of the NAFME Historical Center at the University of Maryland, College Park, in developing the holdings of the Center and in any other matters concerning the Center.

The EC shall consist of nine members elected for six-year terms. Three new members shall rotate onto the EC every two years. New members shall be reviewed and approved by the NAFME National Executive Board from a ranked slate of all qualified candidates submitted by the EC on or before December 1 of each even year. New members shall take office at the beginning of the new calendar year (odd years). At the first EC meeting of the odd calendar year, members will elect a Chair-elect as well as any other officers or positions deemed necessary by the Chair. The Chair or a member of the EC designated by the Chair shall represent the SRME at NAFME leadership meetings and at other events as needed. The Chair-elect will serve as program co-chair for the national conference.

Qualifications of Committee Members

In order for the EC to function optimally in its leadership role, its members shall be elected on the basis of the following:

Required qualifications:

1. Membership in the Society for Research in Music Education at the time of initial nomination and for the entire period of service.
2. Record of continuing publication of research reports and articles, to include articles in the Journal of Research in Music Education or other refereed professional journals of comparable prominence.
3. Commitment to serve a full term and attend all meetings of the EC. Committee members can serve in no more than one SRME-affiliated leadership post at one time and must complete a full term in one post followed by two-year hiatus before serving again in the same post, and complete a full term appointment before becoming eligible for a different SRME-affiliated leadership post. (SRME EC and Editorial Committees of the JRME and Update). Exceptions will be considered for those seeking an editor or associate editor position.

Desirable qualifications:

1. Earned doctorate in music education or music.
2. Experience in guiding graduate research projects, particularly doctoral-level research, gained as a faculty member at a graduate degree-granting institution.

3. Sustained involvement in research activities of NAFME at the state, divisional, or national level.

The EC will also consider how the nominees contribute to a balanced distribution of expertise and representation on the Committee.

Any member of the Society may place a name in nomination for the EC by submitting the name to the Chair of the EC. Before each conference, the Chair will prepare a formal call for nominations, detailing the qualifications for office specified in this handbook, and will distribute the call to the SRME membership both electronically and through appropriate print journals. Each nomination must include a CV (or resume) and comply in all respects with the call for nominations sent by the Chair. The submitted CV must clearly provide the information needed to evaluate the nominee's qualifications.

Vacancies

When a member of the EC fails to complete a full term, that member shall submit a letter of resignation to the Chair of the EC. The Chair may declare the position vacant without majority approval of the EC. Any person elected to fill a vacated position that does not exceed three years may be nominated for a full or partial term on the EC. Individuals appointed to fill vacancies on the Committee will serve out the duration of the vacant term. The length of the remainder of the term of a vacancy that occurs will determine the process used to replace the Committee member. Positions vacated with less than two years remaining in the terms may be filled by an individual agreed upon by the Chair and Chair-Elect of the EC. To fill vacancies created by individuals with two or more years remaining in their terms, a Call will be distributed immediately, and the selection process carried out as per these Bylaws. Any person appointed to fill a vacated position that does not exceed two years may be nominated for a full term on the Committee immediately upon completion of that term.

Social Media

NAfME authorizes the SRME EC to use specific social media platforms, including Facebook and Twitter, to communicate with its members. SRME social media platforms are designed to serve SRME members and the music education research community by providing relevant and timely information about research and research-related opportunities. This can include calls for papers, proposals, presentations, and nominations; information about research conferences and other related professional gatherings; announcements of new research journals or new issues; and other topics deemed relevant and valuable by the SRME EC. This site will not be used to promote any one researcher's work or career, unless that person has been honored with a special recognition for research at the national or international level (e.g., NAFME Senior Researcher Award). Posts will be moderated by the SRME Media Coordinator and the SRME Chair. Posts are not to be used to assist researchers in recruiting participants for a study. The EC Chair will appoint a member of the EC to serve as the Media Coordinator.

JOURNALS

Journal of Research in Music Education

The Journal of Research in Music Education (JRME) is an official publication of NAFME, under the auspices of the SRME. The JRME is the flagship publication of the SRME. The digital version is available to all NAFME members at no cost. The mission of the JRME is to encourage, publish, and disseminate research of the highest caliber for the advancement of music teaching and learning. This peer-reviewed journal considers quantitative, qualitative, historical, and philosophical research relevant to national and international settings. An essential objective of the JRME is to communicate research findings that support the National Association for Music Education's strategic plan of encouraging the study and making of music by all. NAFME's National Executive Board Codified Policies determine the composition of the JRME Editorial Committee. The Editorial Committee of the JRME reports to the SRME Executive Committee.

Editorial Committee of the Journal of Research in Music Education

The Editorial Committee of the Journal of Research in Music Education (JRME) shall consist of twenty-four members, plus an Editor and an Associate Editor/Editor-Elect. The Editor shall serve as Chairperson of the Editorial Committee. It shall be the responsibility of the Editorial Committee to supervise the publication of the JRME and provide critical and timely review and evaluation of manuscripts submitted for publication. The term of office of each member shall be six years (two years for the Associate Editor/Editor-Elect). Retiring members of the Committee may not be reappointed until two years have elapsed since the end of their terms. On or before May of each even year, the Executive Committee of the SRME shall present a slate of qualified candidates to the National Executive Board (NEB). The National Executive Board shall select eight members from this slate of nominees. New members shall take office on July 1.

Selecting JRME Committee Members

Each Committee Member shall be selected by the NAFME National Executive Board from a ranked slate of nominees for the vacancies submitted by the Executive Committee of the SRME. Before submitting the slate of qualified candidate, the SRME EC will seek and consider the advice of the Editor and the current Editorial Committee. The Editorial Committee will rank the candidates who have been nominated for consideration, with the ranking carried out via anonymous ballot, written or electronic. Typically, ranking will occur after a discussion of the candidates at a meeting scheduled by the Editor to meet deadlines set by the Chair of the SRME EC. The Editor will provide the ranked list and offer advice to the EC in writing. The Editor may be asked to provide a verbal report to the Chair of the EC and/or to meet with the full EC.

Members of the JRME Editorial Committee will be elected according to the following criteria:

Required qualifications:

1. Membership in the Society for Research in Music Education at the time of initial nomination and for the entire period of service.
2. A record of publication of research reports and articles including articles in the Journal of Research in Music Education and other refereed professional journals of comparable prominence.
3. Commitment to serve a full term. Committee members can serve in no more than one SRME-affiliated leadership post at one time and must complete a full term in one post followed by two-year hiatus before serving again in the same post, and complete a full term appointment before becoming eligible for a different SRME-affiliated leadership post (SRME EC and Editorial Committees of the JRME and Update). Exceptions will be considered for those seeking an editor or associate editor position.

Desirable qualifications:

1. An earned doctorate in music education or music.
2. Experience in guiding graduate research projects, particularly doctoral-level research, gained as a faculty member at a graduate degree-granting institution.
3. Continuing interest and involvement in scholarly research activity that clearly establishes an area of expertise.

The EC will also consider how the nominees contribute to a balanced distribution of expertise and representation on the Committee.

Vacancies

When a Committee member is unable to complete a full term, that member shall submit a letter of resignation to the Editor. The Editor may declare a position vacant when a committee member exhibits a pattern of weak and/or untimely reviews and non-attendance at the NAFME national conference or other interim meetings. Individuals appointed to fill vacancies on the Committee will serve out the duration of the vacant term. The length of the remainder of the term of a vacancy that occurs will determine the process used to replace the Committee member. Positions vacated with less than two years remaining in the terms may be filled by an individual agreed upon by the Editor and Chair of the EC. To fill vacancies created by individuals with two or more years remaining in their terms, a Call will be distributed immediately, and the selection process carried out as per these Bylaws. Any person appointed to fill a vacated position that does not exceed two years may be nominated for a full term on the Editorial Committee immediately upon completion of that term.

Associate Editor/Editor-Elect of the JRME

During the fourth year of the Editor's term, the Associate Editor/Editor Elect will be elected. This individual will serve for two years until the conclusion of the term of the Editor, at which time they will assume the role of Editor. The Associate Editor will assist with journal operations, learn to use the online submission system, and prepare for serving a six-year term as Editor.

Qualifications:

1. Membership in the Society for Research in Music Education at the time of initial nomination and for the entire period of service.
2. Record as a professional music educator who has received national recognition as a researcher as evidenced by academic training in research and by a continuing record of high quality research and research publications.
3. At least two years of experience as an Editor (Chair of an Editorial committee) or as a member of an Editorial committee for a professional music, music education, or music-related journal.
4. Commitment that they will volunteer the necessary time to carry out the duties of Associate Editor, and then Editor, including attendance at Editorial Committee meetings, usually in conjunction with NAFME national conference.
5. Commitment from the employing institution that it will support the applicant's tenure as Associate Editor, and then Editor, in terms of release time and resources, use of facilities, and a clerical support/administrative assistant for the Editor position (approximately 5 hours per week) for the duration of the term (6 years).

The applicant must provide the Chair of the SRME-EC with the following documents in support their candidacy:

1. A complete curriculum vitae, to include degrees earned, special areas of study, employment history, publications, presentations at meetings, awards, offices held in the profession, and any other information that might be helpful in establishing the applicant's qualifications.
2. A letter from the applicant assuring their willingness to be responsive to the positions in terms of duties and time.
3. A letter from the applicant's employer or overseeing administrator assuring the conditions stated in Qualification 5 above.
4. Three letters of recommendation from nationally recognized researchers in music or music education testifying to the applicant's qualifications.

Any member of the Society may place a name in nomination for Associate Editor/Editor-Elect by submitting the name to the Chair of the EC. The Chair will prepare a formal call for nominations, detailing the qualifications for office specified in this handbook and will distribute the call to the SRME membership both electronically and through appropriate print journals. The EC will also seek recommendations from the current JRME Editor. The Editor may offer this advice verbally or in writing. On or before May 1 of each even year, the EC will forward to the NAFME National Executive Board its recommendation for Associate Editor/Editor-Elect. The Board shall approve the appointment of the Associate Editor/Editor-Elect.

Should the Associate Editor/Editor-Elect be unable to complete a two-year term for any reason, then the Associate Editor/Editor-Elect shall submit a letter of resignation to the Editor. A new Call for Associate Editor/Editor will be distributed immediately, and the selection process carried out as per these Bylaws.

Editor and Chair of Editorial Committee of the JRME

The Editor and Chair of the JRME reads submissions, assigns them as appropriate to Editorial Committee members for review, makes decisions on results of manuscript reviews, and conveys decisions to authors. The Editor represents the journal to the organization and field, works with SAGE staff to publish at least four issues per year, recruits authors and readership to the journal, and reports journal activity and progress biennially.

Should the Editor be unable to complete a six-year term for any reason, the Editor shall submit a letter of resignation to the Chair of the EC. If an Associate Editor/Editor-Elect is in place, the Associate Editor/Editor-Elect shall become Editor. If an Associate Editor/Editor-Elect is not in place, the Chair of the EC shall convene a special meeting of the EC, which will recommend an interim Editor from among the current or past members of the Editorial Committee to serve until a new Editor is named. A Call for Editor will be distributed immediately, and the selection process carried out as per these Bylaws. An individual who fulfills a term as Editor that does not exceed two years shall be eligible for a full six-year term as Editor.

Update: Applications of Research in Music Education

Update: Applications of Research in Music Education (Update) is an official publication of NAFME, under the auspices of the Society for Research in Music Education. Available to all NAFME members, Update contains articles that emphasize the interpretation and application of research findings in music education. Update serves as a bridge between researchers and practitioners. Its purpose is to provide music teachers with the findings of research in an easily readable form. Update is a peer-reviewed, online journal for music educators and music researchers who are committed to applying scholarship as a means of improving practice. The journal serves as a forum for exploring issues and topics relevant to contemporary music education and emphasizes research-based implications across a variety of music teaching and learning contexts. All methodological approaches are valued, including qualitative, quantitative, philosophical, historical, and theoretical modes of inquiry. Literature reviews and policy pieces are also welcome.

Editorial Committee of Update

The organization structure of Update shall consist of an Editorial Committee of twelve Researchers and Clinicians, plus an Editor and an Associate Editor/Editor-Elect, who will be elected for the last year of the Editor's term. The Editor shall serve as Chairperson of the Editorial Committee. The six researchers and six clinicians provide critical review and evaluation of manuscripts submitted for publication. As such, two points of view are represented in this part of the review process, those of researcher and clinician. Because clinicians are well-practiced in interacting meaningfully with K-12 teachers, they help to bridge a real or perceived gap between researcher and practitioner.

It shall be the responsibility of the Committee to supervise the publication of Update and provide critical and timely review and evaluation of manuscripts submitted for publication. Each Committee member shall be elected by the NAFME National Executive Board from a ranked slate of two nominees for each vacancy submitted by the Executive Committee of the SRME. The term of office of each member shall be four years (one year for Associate Editor/Editor-Elect). Retiring members of the Committee may not be reappointed until two years have elapsed since the end of their terms. On or before May of each even year, the Executive Committee of the SRME shall present a slate of qualified nominees to the National Executive Board. The National Executive Board shall elect members from this slate of nominees. New members shall take office on July 1.

Selecting Update Committee Members

Before submitting a slate of qualified candidates for membership on the Update Editorial Committee, the SRME EC will seek and consider the advice of the Editor and the current Editorial Committee. The Editorial Committee will rank the candidates who have been nominated for consideration, with the ranking carried out via anonymous ballot, written or electronic. Typically, ranking will occur after a discussion of the candidates at the NAFME National conference, or at a meeting scheduled by the Editor to meet deadlines set by the Chair of the SRME EC. The Editor will provide the ranked list and offer advice to the EC in writing. The Editor may be asked to provide a verbal report to the Chair of the EC and/or to meet with the full EC.

Members of the Update Editorial Committee will be selected according to the following criteria:

Required qualifications for researchers:

1. Membership in the Society for Research in Music Education at the time of initial nomination and for the entire period of service.
2. Record of publication of research reports and articles, to include articles in the Journal of Research in Music Education, Update: Applications of Research in Music Education, or other refereed professional journals of comparable prominence.
3. Commitment to serve a full term. Committee members can serve in no more than one SRME-affiliated leadership post at one time and must complete a full term in one post followed by two-year hiatus before serving again in the same post, and complete a full term appointment before becoming eligible for a different SRME-affiliated leadership post (SRME EC and Editorial Committees of the JRME and Update). Exceptions will be considered for those seeking an editor or associate editor position.

Desirable qualifications for researchers:

1. Experience in guiding graduate research projects, particularly doctoral level research, gained as a faculty member at a graduate-degree-granting institution.

Required qualifications for clinicians:

1. Record of at least three years of successful, full-time teaching or teaching supervision at the elementary or secondary level within the past 10 years.
2. Continuing interest and involvement in teaching and research that clearly establishes an area of expertise.

3. Attendance at the NAFME Music Research and Teacher Education Conferences.
4. Commitment to serve in no more than one SRME-affiliated leadership post at one time, complete a full term in one post followed by two-year hiatus before serving again in the same post, and to complete the full term of appointment before becoming eligible for a different SRME-affiliated leadership post

Desirable qualifications for clinicians and researchers:

1. An earned doctorate in music education or music.

The EC will also consider how the nominees contribute to a balanced distribution of expertise and representation on the Committee.

Vacancies

When a committee member fails to complete a full term, that member shall submit a letter of resignation to the Editor. The Editor may declare a position vacant when a committee member exhibits a pattern of weak and/or untimely reviews and non-attendance at the NAFME National conference. Any person elected to fill a vacated position that does not exceed two years may be nominated for a full four-year term on the Editorial Committee.

Individuals appointed to fill vacancies on the Committee will serve out the duration of the vacant term. The length of the remainder of the term of a vacancy that occurs will determine the process used to replace the Committee member. Positions vacated with less than two years remaining in the terms may be filled by an individual agreed upon by the Editor, Chair, and Chair-Elect of the EC. To fill vacancies created by individuals with two or more years remaining in their terms, a Call will be distributed immediately and the selection process carried out as per these Bylaws. Any person appointed to fill a vacated position that does not exceed two years may be nominated for a full term on the Editorial Committee immediately upon completion of that term.

Editor and Chair of Editorial Committee of Update

The Editor and Chair of Update reads submissions, assigns them as appropriate to Editorial Committee members for review, makes decisions on results of manuscript reviews, and conveys decisions to authors. The Editor represents the journal to the organization and field, works with SAGE staff to publish at least three issues per year, recruits authors and readership to the journal, and reports journal activity and progress biennially.

Should the Editor be unable to complete a complete term for any reason, the Editor shall submit a letter of resignation to the Chair of the EC. If an Associate Editor/Editor-Elect is in place, the Associate Editor/Editor-Elect shall become Editor. If an Associate Editor/Editor-Elect is not in place, the Chair of the EC shall convene a special meeting of the EC, which will recommend an interim Editor from among the current or past members of the Editorial Committee to serve until a new Editor is named. A Call for Editor will be distributed immediately, and the selection process carried out as per these Bylaws. An individual who fulfills a term as Editor that does not exceed two years shall be eligible for a full four-year term as Editor.

Associate Editor and Editor-Elect of Update

During the second year of the Editor's four-year term, the Associate Editor/Editor Elect will be elected.

This individual will serve until the conclusion of the term of the Editor, at which time they will assume the role of Editor. The Associate Editor will assist with journal operations, learn to use the online submission system, and prepare for serving a four-year term as Editor.

Qualifications:

1. Membership in the Society for Research in Music Education at the time of nomination and for the entire period of service.
2. Commitment to serve in no more than one SRME-affiliated leadership post at one time and complete a full term in one post followed by two-year hiatus before serving again in the same post.
3. Documentation of sustained, high-quality research publication.
4. Experience indicating the ability to address issues of research and practice in music education.
5. A record of leadership within SRME.
6. Commitment that they will volunteer the necessary time to carry out the duties of Editor, including attendance at Editorial Committee meetings, usually in conjunction with NAFME National conference.
7. Commitment from the employing institution that it will support the applicant's tenure as Associate Editor, and then Editor, in terms of release time and resources, use of facilities, and a clerical support/administrative assistant for the Editor position (approximately 5 hours per week) for the duration of the term (4 years).

The applicant must provide the Chair of the SRME-EC with the following documents in support of their candidacy:

1. A complete curriculum vitae, to include degrees earned, special areas of study, employment history, publications, presentations at meetings, awards, offices held in the profession, and any other information that might be helpful in establishing the applicant's qualifications.
2. A letter from the applicant assuring their willingness to be responsive to the positions in terms of duties and time.
3. A letter from the applicant's employer or overseeing administrator assuring the conditions stated in Qualification 7 above.
4. Three letters of recommendation from nationally recognized researchers in music or music education testifying to the applicant's qualifications.

Any member of the Society may place a name in nomination for Associate Editor/Editor-Elect by submitting the name to the Chair of the EC. Before the NAFME National conference, the Chair will prepare a formal call for nominations, detailing the qualifications for office specified in this handbook, and will distribute the call to the SRME membership both electronically and through appropriate print journals. The EC will also seek recommendations from the current Update Editor. The Editor may offer this advice verbally or in writing. On or before May 1 of even years, the EC will forward to the NAFME National Executive Board its recommendation for Associate Editor/Editor-Elect. The Board shall approve the appointment of the Associate Editor/Editor-Elect.

Should the Associate Editor/Editor-Elect be unable to complete a two-year term for any reason, then the Associate Editor/Editor-Elect shall submit a letter of resignation to the Editor. A new Call for Associate Editor/Editor will be distributed immediately, and the selection process carried out as per these Bylaws.

SPECIAL RESEARCH INTEREST GROUPS

Establishment and Purpose of the Special Research Interest Groups

The Special Research Interest Groups (SRIGs) were established by action of the SRME Executive Committee at the national conference held in Chicago in 1978. The purposes of the SRIGs are to (a) broaden the base of support for research in NAFME by actively involving members with specific research interests in the activities of the SRME, (b) provide a focal point for research specialties for both for researchers and for teacher practitioners, (c) provide a continuing source of qualified leadership for SRME, and (d) provide a vehicle for engagement among researchers with similar scholarly interests. Bi-annually, the SRME Executive Committee Chair will designate a member of the Executive Committee to serve as Liaison to the Special Interest Research Groups.

Membership in Special Research Interest Groups

Any member of NAFME may join any SRIG. SRIG members participate in the election of SRIG officers.

Creation of New Special Research Interest Groups

A new Special Research Interest Group may be proposed by any member of SRME by means of the following procedure.

1. Draft a written petition proposing a unique mission for the proposed SRIG. Circulate it to interested parties and obtain the signatures of at least 50 SRME members. Those who sign must agree to join the new SRIG if it is approved.
2. Submit the mission statement and the signed petition to the SRME Executive Committee Chair. The SRME Executive Committee will review the final mission statement of the proposed SRIG and determine approval or disapproval by majority vote. Criteria for approval will be the uniqueness of mission and breadth of support by the proposing membership. If the proposed mission appears to overlap with that of existing SRIGs, the SRME Executive Committee Chair will ask the proponents of the proposed SRIG to develop a uniquely focused mission statement. If a proposal is not approved, the SRME Executive Committee will make an effort to accommodate the proposed SRIG's research interests within one or more of the existing SRIGs.
3. The timeline for the proposals is as follows:
 - a. If a SRIG proposal is submitted to the SRME Executive Committee Chair no later than one year prior to the next scheduled conference, it will be reviewed and acted upon in advance of the next conference. If the proposal is approved, the SRME Executive Committee will schedule an initial meeting for the proposed SRIG at the next scheduled national conference.
 - b. If a SRIG proposal is submitted to the SRME Executive Committee Chair less than one year prior to the next conference, it will be reviewed and acted upon for the conference following the next one. If the proposal is approved, the SRME Executive Committee will schedule an initial meeting for the proposed SRIG at the national conference following the next one.
4. If the SRIG is approved, then prior to the next conference the SRIG proponents must ratify a final mission statement and hold an online election for both a Chair and Chair-elect. The approved mission statement will be submitted, along with the names of the Chair and Chair-elect, to the SRIG liaison of the SRME Executive Committee within six months of receiving approval.

Governance of the Special Research Interest Groups

Prior to each NAFME national conference, the SRIG Chair will solicit nominations from the membership for Chair-elect. The Chair will conduct an election prior to the conference to identify a Chair-elect and any other officers by procedures agreed upon by the SRIG membership. Duties of the SRIG Chair and Chair-elect are found below. Each SRIG will determine its other officers' duties. The term of office will be two years from the official appointment. The offices of Chair and Chair-elect must be filled at all times, and the names, addresses, phone numbers, and e-mail addresses of both officers must be reported to the SRME Executive Committee SRIG Liaison. Failure to maintain these offices and to report officers' names to SRME Executive Committee will be grounds for deactivation of the SRIG.

If the office of SRIG Chair becomes vacant during a biennium, the currently serving Chair-elect will become Chair. The new Chair will solicit nominations and then hold an election online for a new Chair-elect. If the office of SRIG Chair-elect becomes vacant during a biennium, the SRIG Chair will solicit nominations and then hold an election online for a new Chair-elect. In either case, the SRIG Chair or Chair-Elect must inform the SRME Executive Committee SRIG Liaison.

SRIG Chairs and Chairs-elect must be current members of SRME and will possess the following qualifications:

1. Present a record of interest and involvement in that particular SRIG.
2. Be actively involved in research activity.
3. Attend the NAFME national conferences.

Duties of the SRIG Chairs

1. Respond to queries and file appropriate reports with the SRME Executive Committee Chair or their designee.
2. Serve as liaison with NAFME staff to maintain an accurate and current roster of SRIG membership.
3. Provide leadership for the planning and execution of activities at the national conferences.
4. Oversee SRIG sessions at the national conferences and attend the national SRIG leadership meeting at the NAFME conference.
5. Communicate to members through social media, a national newsletter or by other means deemed effective to reach SRIG membership at least yearly, and at least once between NAFME conferences.
6. Represent the SRIG to SRME Executive Committee through the EC SRIG Liaison.
7. Provide a yearly detailed progress report to the SRME Executive Committee, including information on meeting activities, membership demographics, and publications generated by members apropos to the SRIG mission. Reports are due to the SRME SRIG Liaison by October 1.
8. Serve as a reviewer for conference proposals, if requested by the SRME Executive Committee Program Chair.
9. Respond to inquiries from potential new members.

Duties of SRIG Chairs-Elect

1. Assist the Chair in creating and/or maintaining SRIG membership list and networking sites for the membership.

2. Provide support for Chair on all SRIG matters, e.g. conference sessions, website.
3. Assume office of Chair, if Chair is unable to complete their term.

Co-sponsorship of SRIG Symposia and Other Events

Since all SRIGs fall under the family of organizations within NAFME, NAFME is considered a co-sponsor of SRIG symposia and other events (e.g., a mid-biennium conference). Requests/proposals for co-sponsorships shall be submitted to the Chair of the SRME Executive Committee as a first step in an approval process that includes the SRIG liaison and NAFME's Professional Development Committee (PDC) and Executive Director. For complete information, see Codified Policies IV-B.

Review and Evaluation of Special Research Interest Groups

The SRME Executive Committee will review the SRIGs at each national conference. Each SRIG Chair will report on the SRIG's activities as requested by the SRME Executive Committee's SRIG Liaison prior to the conference. The Liaison will review the reports and summarize each SRIG's activities in a report to the SRME Executive Committee, which will review and evaluate the SRIGs according to the following criteria:

1. The Mission Statement continues to be unique and to describe the SRIG's activities.
2. Professional meetings and/or projects generated through or by a given SRIG are appropriate to the mission and are conducted with full knowledge and support of the SRME Executive Committee Chair and SRIG Liaison.
3. SRIG sessions at the national conference are attended by a combined average of 25 or more persons.
4. SRIG leadership communicates regularly (minimum once a year) with the membership of the SRIG and the SRME SRIG Liaison through email, NAFME Amplify platform, digital newsletters, social media or other forms of communication and keeps websites current.
5. SRIG leadership ensures that all social media content is appropriate and speaks to the SRIG mission.
6. Response to assignments and inquiries from the SRME Executive Committee Chair, the SRIG Liaison, or conference program organizers regarding the program and other activities is timely and appropriate.
7. National SRIG leadership meeting at the NAFME national conference is attended by Chairs and/or Chairs elect.

Deactivation of Special Research Interest Groups

A SRIG may be deactivated by majority vote of the SRME Executive Committee for:

1. Failure to maintain a Chair and Chair-elect whose contact information (names, addresses, phone numbers, and e-mail addresses) have been reported to the SRIG Liaison.
2. Failure to present evidence of SRIG activity (e.g., professional meetings, publications) beyond that of its Chair for a period of at least one biennium.
3. Failure to respond in a timely manner to correspondence from the SRME Executive Committee Chair or their designee.
4. It becomes evident that the Mission Statement of the SRIG is redundant or is no longer relevant or unique.

5. SRIG sessions at the national conference are sparsely attended or the programs are not apropos to the mission.

The SRME Executive Committee Chair shall have authority to initiate deactivation proceedings for a SRIG if any of the above conditions have developed. A SRIG may be deactivated by majority vote of the SRME Executive Committee at any meeting of the EC. A deactivated SRIG will be dropped from the list of approved SRIGs and denied any request for meeting time and the opportunity to propose sessions at future national conferences. A SRIG may appeal its deactivation to the SRME Executive Committee by its representatives appearing before the SRME Executive Committee at the subsequent national conference and presenting reasons why it should not be deactivated. The appeal will be accepted or denied by majority vote of the Executive Committee. To be reinstated, a deactivated SRIG must follow the same procedure required to organize a new SRIG.

Membership of a SRIG may seek its deactivation after:

1. The Chair of the SRIG announces discussion of possible deactivation to its membership at least six months prior to the national conference.
2. A majority of the SRIG membership present at the national conference votes for deactivation.
3. A letter announcing the results of the deactivation vote and a formal request for deactivation is submitted to the SRME Executive Committee Chair.
4. A discussion of the deactivation request is held at the next national meeting of the SRME Executive Committee, and a majority vote for deactivation is obtained. Any SRIG member wishing to attend this discussion or speak to the proposed deactivation will be given time upon written request to the SRME Executive Committee Chair.

DIVISIONS

The members of the Society within each NAFME Division constitute a Division of the Society. Each Division, if it has a Research organization and Research Chair, functions in cooperation with the Society for Research in Music Education. The SRME Executive Committee Chair will designate a member of the SRME Executive Committee to serve as Liaison to the Divisions and State Chairs of the Society.

Division Function

The primary function of a Division unit of the SRME is to serve the needs of the Division members of the Society and Division association and leadership. In fulfilling this purpose, the Division organization may sponsor and organize research sessions at Division meetings, disseminate research findings, and foster communication among the SRME Division members and State Research Chairs.

Division Organization and Division Chairs

Activities of the Division are coordinated by a Division Research Chair, who may be assisted by State Research Chairs in that Division. Typically, the Division Research Chair is appointed by the Division President, based on the recommendation of the current Division and State Chairs. The term of the Division Research Chair coincides with that of the Division President. Division Chairs may serve multiple consecutive terms.

The duties of the Divisional Research Chair include the following:

1. Organize and coordinate research sessions for Division meetings, for Divisions that have such meetings.
2. Disseminate information to Division members and State Research Chairs.
3. Report research activities of the Division to the SRME EC.
4. Transmit relevant Division materials to the NAFME Historical Center and assist the Center in its search for holdings.
5. Serve as liaison between Division SRME membership, the Division leadership, and the SRME and Executive Committee.

THE STATE UNITS

Members of the state units within NAFME constitute an entity within the Society. Each state unit, if it has a research Chair, functions in cooperation with the Society for Research in Music Education. The SRME Executive Committee Chair will designate a member of the SRME Executive Committee to serve as Liaison to the Divisions and State Chairs of the Society.

State Unit Function

The primary function of a state unit is to serve the needs of the state members of the Society and the state association. In fulfilling this purpose, state units may organize and sponsor research sessions at state meetings, sponsor state research journals, write a research column for the state journal, and foster communication among the state members and state leadership.

State Organization and State Chairs

A state unit is coordinated by a State Research Chair, who may be assisted by a State Research Committee. Typically, the State Research Chair is appointed by the State President, and the Chair's term of office coincides with that of the President. Some states use other methods of appointment. In some states, constitutional provision has established the office of State Research Chair.

State Research Chair duties vary according to the needs and activities of that state. Typical duties of State Research Chairs include:

1. Provide assistance to individuals, groups, and the state association membership and leadership in matters concerning music education research.
2. In states in which the association constitution designates the State Research Chair as a member of the state association executive board, serve on the board and carry out duties as assigned by that board.
3. Organize and coordinate research sessions at state association meetings.
4. Report research activities of the State to the SRME EC.
5. Transmit relevant Division materials to the NAFME Historical Center and assist the Center in its search for holdings.
6. Serve as a liaison between the state association membership, the state leadership, the appropriate Divisional Research Chair (where one exists), and the SRME Executive Committee.
